"If I had an hour or two where I had some free time, I would just kind of peck away at all those worksheets . . . a nice benefit is the ability of people who don't speak English to get some help with trip planning."

"Having a tool like GTFS Builder is really light years ahead of what it used to be at one time in terms of how fast you can put everything together. Our university students really can't imagine transit without it, so I think it's very important for us in terms of attracting that particular demographic."

Jaime McKay, Former Manager of Direct Services
Center for Mobility Equity,
Maryland
(18 agencies statewide initiative)

In the past we used proprietary database software that was very challenging, very murky, and hard to update. GTFS Builder is a great opportunity to make this more user-friendly, more readily updatable and it would enable us to show how to create a GTFS to more of the staff.
